The image shows three medicine bottles on a white surface against a blurred background. The central bottle is a clear amber glass bottle with a white cap, containing several green and white capsules. A white label with a grey border is stuck to the front of this bottle, with the word 'abgelaufen' printed in black. To the left is a red plastic bottle with a red cap, containing dark capsules. To the right is a smaller clear amber glass bottle with a white cap, containing several dark capsules. The entire scene is set against a solid orange background.
